Raw Power leather, fabric, and power belts are designed in a variety of styles to target the needs of both men & women who require an effective means of back & abdominal support. Belts are most beneficial when lifting, exercising with weights, and participating in any recreational or sports activity. Belts help to minimize hyper-extension and torso flexion. They also assist in spinal alignment and increase the body's intra-abdominal pressure to facilitate lifting heavier loads.

Raw Power's large selection ensures you have choices to suit all needs and requirements. We have leather for stiffer support, power for strength training & competition, as well as padded and fabric models for more comfortable & flexible support in all lifting activities.
